NEW YORK, Mar 25, 2019-- CorpAxe, the thought leader in workflow management and data aggregation, announced today that Dan Strzelec has joined the company as Chief Information Officer.

Dan has worked in the financial industry for over 17 years, most recently at Morgan Stanley, where he led the Windows Server and Cloud Compute Engineering teams. Prior to Morgan Stanley, he was the Global Head of Windows Engineering at Jefferies LLC. He has broad knowledge and experience in cloud, enterprise, and global scale technologies, including all layers of computing, security, and networking, with a specialization in Microsoft Azure and Windows-based server workloads. Dan brings a vast array of financial industry and technology vendor relationships, as well as experience with NYC-based start-ups.

"Dan is a proven leader with significant experience across financial services," stated CorpAxe CEO and Co-Founder Ed Byon. "He has a deep understanding of the key concerns relating to data security and infrastructure, and I'm confident that he will make significant contributions to the long-term success of CorpAxe."

Since its inception, CorpAxe has been focused on superior product design, architecture, security, and data management, ensuring clients' data safety and product stability. Strzelec's industry experience and technology partnerships will build upon and strengthen the core technology values at CorpAxe.

"I'm excited to join the CorpAxe team," Strzelec said. "I am eager to tap into the accelerated growth of the client base, as well as the industry's heightened focus on security, and help CorpAxe scale up to the next level."

Strzelec studied Computer Science and Information Management at Syracuse University.

About CorpAxe
CorpAxe is the premiere corporate access events aggregator, resource management, broker vote and origination workflow platform. It allows clients to view aggregated sell-side marketing calendars (including management of conference registrations/deadlines, open requests for access and confirmation of meetings and attendees).

CorpAxe is flexible and highly customizable. It is the premier reporting analytics tools for CIOs, DORs and senior management teams. The platform allows for price discovery, accuracy of management in attendance for regulatory review and commission management. CorpAxe receives data via direct uploads from our broker partners and follows a strict proprietary validation process that minimizes errors and therefore inaccurate payments and votes.
